JANESVILLE WON FROM BELOIT

LOCAL EAGLES AND RED SOX BOTH VICTORIOUS.

MANY SAW THE GAME HERE

Score Was Ten and Three—Other Baseball Contests and News of the Diamond.

Two Janesville teams, the nine representing the local aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and the Red Sox, dished up defeats to Beloit aggregations yesterday afternoon. The Eagle's opponents were their brothers from the Line City lodge and the final score of the game was ten and three. The Red Sox played at Yost Park with the Shamrocks and won to the tune of fourteen and three.

The Eagle's Contest
 The Eagle game was played on the new diamond at the Fair Grounds and was witnessed by a thousand people. The ground being still fresh the playing was a bit slow, but notwithstanding the game proved very interesting. The umpire cried "play ball" at just 3:15 o'clock with a Beloit man up to bat. The first two were struck out by Pitcher Wells and third was slain by a little grounder that he sent to Riley, but which reached first base before he did. For the Bower City boys Fulton was the first to bat. Riley sacrificed sending Fulton to second and Freeborn nailed out a two-bagger, bringing home one score. Ward followed with a single, Dunwiddie flew out, Wells and Wendt each reached first on errors and Allen batted a single. Meanwhile before the third "out" was made Freeborn, Ward and Wells reached the home plate in the second inning the Line City batters found the ball a bit better and with a few singles and stolen bases succeeded in scoring one point. The locals by one base on balls, an error in the right field and two singles repeated Beloit's scoring performance. Then Wells struck out three of the visitors in succession and Janesville let the inning go by without scoring. In the fourth three more Beloit men failed to reach first, while Freeborn with a three-bagger and Ward, Dunwiddie and Wells with singles brought in two more scores.

Woke up in Ninth
 Again in Beloit went to the field after three had failed to make safe hits. One man reached first on an error by Fulton, but was caught by the same player when attempting to steal a base. Then three Janesville between time a player had reached first on an error. Freeborn and Ward both made safe hits, but Riley struck out, Freeborn was caught in trying to steal a bag and Wells flew out. First base was not reached by a Line City man in the seventh, while Allen assisted by a hit from Fulton passed the home plate. In the eighth inning players were out in one, two, three order, one by the first baseman and two by strike-outs. Three more Beloit men were the victims of Wells' curves in the sixth inning, though

Wells Pitched Good Game
 The final score stood Janesville, 10; Beloit, 3. The stars of the local team were Wells, who struck out ten men, and Freeborn, who never failed to get a hit and made one two-bagger and one three-bagger, the latter of which on an enclosed field would have been good for a home run. Freeborn is a student at Sacred Heart college of Watertown and last week received a medal in a batting contest, making six hits on six pitches. The line-up and score by innings was:

Red Sox Shamrock Game
 Five hundred people, fifty of whom were from Janesville, saw the game at Yost's park. Rooting failed to help the Beloit players and by perfect team work and avoiding all but two errors the Bower city lads piled up fourteen runs over the three of their opponents. The game was fast, but easy for the locals. Their line-up was: Hall, c; Clarke, p; Bahr, 1b; Casey, 2b; G. Schmidt, ss; Kerl, 3b; P. Schmidt, lf; Brummund, cf; Schumacher, rf.

To Play in Major League
 Perring, well known here, having played on the Janesville team two seasons ago and the Beloit state league nine last year, is this season with the Omaha team. He is holding down the third bag, just as he did when he first attracted attention while at Beloit college, and "Sporting Life," the authority on baseball, says that Manager O'Rourke seems to be lucky in picking up basemen and that no doubt Perring will next year be playing in one of the major league nines.

Three Tied For First
 The Y. M. C. A. team defeated the Knights of the Holy Cross in a Junior League game at the Athletic park Saturday afternoon. The score was 14 to 8 and every run was earned by hard playing, errors being few and both batteries performing well. This is the first game, either this or last season, that the Knights have lost and as a result three teams—the Knights, the Y. M. C. A. and the Riverview club—are tied for first place in the race for the cup. The Association boys are so encouraged by their victory that they will practice this week with renewed effort, hoping to win the trophy this year. Saturday next the Y. M. C. A. and Christian Templars nines will play and the Knights and Riverview park lads will cross bats.

Colored Teams Will Play
 Two colored teams, who are making a tour of this section of the country, will play here on Wednesday, June 6. The game will occur on the Eagle field at the Fair Grounds and the people of Janesville will be treated to a good exhibition of professional ball. The two nines travel under the names of the Leland and Columbian Giants.

Crowd on Bunker Hill
 An immense crowd of men and boys saw two games of ball on Bunker hill yesterday afternoon. The Blackhawks were drubbed by the Fourth Ward Lions and the time of the music was 17 and 4. The White Sox also were beaten, the Second Ward team being victorious by a score of 20 to 9.

 Washington, D. C., May 19.—Owing to the fact that Cuban tobacco is being experimented with by the makers of Havana County cigars with a view to its successful cultivation in that locality, a report on a survey of the soils of this region will be of interest to the tobacco trade. This country is in the eastern part of the state, its southern boundary being about sixty miles from the Gulf of Mexico. The area of Havana county is 636,000 acres, or 995 square miles. Three types of soil are in this locality, the Lufkin sandy loam, Lufkin sand, and Houston Black Clay. Last season the growing of tobacco on the Lufkin sandy loam soil was inaugurated. Cuban filler tobacco leaf was grown, 600 pounds being the yield to the acre. A small lot of Sumatra wrapper leaf was also produced. The Bureau of Soils cannot say at this time whether this soil is adapted to the growing of the Cuban filler leaf. No experiments in growing tobacco have been made on the Lufkin sand soil and the soil of the Houston Black Clay variety has not yet shown its desirability for the growth of tobacco.

It seems that the farmers of Texas are not taking up with any great enthusiasm the growing of tobacco. This the Bureau of Soils attributes to their lack of knowledge of the proper methods of cultivating, harvesting and curing. The Bureau is making efforts to produce Cuban cigar filler leaf in this region. In 1904 twenty acres were cultivated, yielding 12,000 pounds, and some Sumatra wrapper leaf was grown under shade. The tobacco raised last year was made into cigars which met with a ready sale. The Bureau says the quality of the leaf produced in Texas cannot be definitely stated, as the leaf of which the cigars were manufactured had hardly been fermented, long enough, but if the Cuban aroma is found and can be developed through fermentation, success ought to crown the growing of tobacco of this grade in Texas.

REQUEST FOR PROBE HAS BEEN DEFERRED
 [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
 Washington, D. C., May 19.—After consultation with Commissioner of Corporations Garfield and Assistant Secretary Murray of the Department of Commerce and Labor, and Representative Jenkins of Wisconsin, Chairman of the House Committee on Judiciary, Representative Stanley, of Kentucky, deferred the presentation of arguments on his resolutions introduced last week for reports from the President and the Secretary of Commerce and Labor as to the operations of the tobacco trust. The Judiciary Committee met last week with the intention of taking up Mr. Stanley's resolutions, and Commissioner Garfield and Mr. Murray were in attendance ready to be heard on the resolutions. The consultation developed the fact that Commissioner Garfield is investigating the tobacco trust along the lines proposed by Mr. Stanley and it was thought best to allow the officials to complete their searches and give them due time to prepare a report, if necessary, rather than peremptorily call on them and the President for information along the lines of investigations now in progress. In view of these facts, Mr. Stanley did not press the matter, but announced that he is pursuing an investigation himself, the results of which he will lay before the House in a speech not many days hence.

the best results can be obtained only when the paint is Pure White Lead and Pure Linseed Oil mixed with the requirements of the particular job in view.

Be wary of the man who suggests the use of paint already prepared. He cannot know the ingredients of such mixtures. First-class painting can only be had by the use of paint which contains nothing but Pure White Lead and Pure Linseed Oil, colored to the desired shade. Specify

SHIPMAN Pure White Lead
 Made by the Old Dutch Process
 mixed with Pure Linseed Oil, and see that your painter uses it. It spreads easily and uniformly, forming an elastic coat that immediately becomes a part of the wood itself. It will not crack or peel as do adulterated paints. This means a attractive appearance and perfect protection through all the long years of its life. When it does wear, it wears away uniformly, and when the painter is called upon again, he finds the surface all ready for him without recourse to scraping and "burning off." # JAPAN TO RAISE HER OWN TOBACCO

IMPORTS MUCH FROM VIRGINIA AND THE CAROLINAS.

MOVE OF THE GOVERNMENT

Agent of Mikado's Kingdom in America Studying Culture of Bright Leaf.

 Washington, D. C., May 19.—Japan is exhibiting the same militant spirit in agricultural pursuits as those she displayed in the late war, and it is successful in her present undertaking, will cease its importation of bright tobacco from the states of Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina, from which commonwealths she now receives her supply. As is well known, the sale of tobacco in Japan is a government monopoly and the government is endeavoring to interpose the growers of Japan to cultivate the bright cigarette tobacco for use by the monopoly, thus cutting off her importations from America. With this end in view several agents of the monopoly have been in this country and are making no secret of their mission.

Dr. Ikeda, of Japan, as the representative of his government, has been in this country for several months investigating and studying the cultivation and curing of American tobacco. Another agent of the Mikado, Mr. Tokukichiro Abe, who in reality represents the tobacco monopoly bureau of Japan, which, by the way, is operated as an adjunct to the Department of Finance, called at the Department of Agriculture last week bearing credentials from Viscount Aoki, the Japanese Ambassador. He was anxious to secure precisely the information of tobacco raised in Virginia, North and South Carolina, as well as the process of production. Mr. Abe, who hails from Tokio, was not reluctant to state his reasons for this information and other data he asked, explaining to the officials he called on that the Japanese government desired all the information possible regarding the culture of the bright cigarette tobacco in order that the farmers of Japan might grow it with success. He said the failure of his countrymen to raise cigarette tobacco was due to the fact that their product lacked the characteristic American aroma. The farmers of Japan raised very good bright tobacco, but owing to its lack of the American aroma, they were not able to sell their cigarettes in competition with those imported from the United States. Mr. Abe said the climate of Japan is suited to the plant, but the soil is not, and whether or not his government could make up the natural deficiencies with fertilizers and curing, was problematical.

Mr. Abe called at the Department of Agriculture on Saturday last, introduced to the secretary who directed him to the Bureau of Statistics where he was given the data he requested as to the product of the bright tobacco district in this country. The government has been free to extend him every courtesy and make his investigation as easy as possible, as it is not thought that Japan can get along without the American tobacco.

Mr. Abe had with him some samples of Japanese cigarettes, made of straight American tobacco, Japanese and American mixed, all bearing English names and apparently being very fair qualities. Among the brands were "Lily," "Oriental," and others. In general appearance and taste they resembled the American cigarettes. They sell for a cent and a half a package in Japan, so Mr. Abe informed the officials. The Japanese government imports the American tobacco, manufactures it into cigarettes and sends the product to the Pacific Coast, where the internal revenue tax is paid. They are then sold in competition with the American cigarettes. This fact is readily explained by the fact that labor is cheap in Japan and as compared to wages in this country. The samples Mr. Abe submitted were nice looking, the cigarettes being incased in tin foil, while some of the brands had paraffined paper mouthpieces attached. The words "Bureau of tobacco monopoly" were stamped in English on each package, on the reverse side of which was imprinted the legend of origin in Japanese. Mr. Abe did not tarry long at the Department of Agriculture, but after securing the information he sought, departed for Connecticut where he will visit the tobacco experiment station with a view to studying the methods in vogue in raising tobacco there both with and without shade. At the conclusion of his investigation, he will sail for Japan and report to the government.

While Japan is anxious to sever her tobacco trade relations with the United States, this government is not idly sitting by and fondly dreaming, for already the officials of the government are studying how to extend its tobacco trade in the countries where the governments control the supply of manufactured tobacco. The House of Representatives, incorporated in the Agricultural Appropriation bill recently a provision for investigations along these lines in France, Austria, Japan, Spain, Italy and Holland. They will be directed toward extending the tobacco trade of this country with these governments where there is only one purchaser, and that the government agent. It is possible that the investigations now being made by Japan will develop some interesting features in connection with the tobacco industry. Half a dozen buyers control the foreign market, and it is possible that if united effort were made by the United States, the supply to these foreign governments could be held up and the buying country could be forced to pay this country's price instead of the United States being compelled to sell at their figure.

It is a fact, although not generally known, that Japan has in its Department of Agriculture a former tobacco expert of the American Department

...FORTY YEARS AGO...

Janesville—Daily Gazette, Monday, May 21, 1866.—Fifty persons were killed by the terrible dust storm at Buenos Ayres on the 19th of March. It occurred at about five o'clock in the afternoon, but the heavens were obscured so thoroughly by the driving clouds of dust that it was darker than the darkest night. Trees, houses and ships were capsized in an instant, so powerful was the wind.

Mr. Solomon Andrews, of Perth Amboy, N. J., has constructed in New York an aëroon, or flying ship, out of two army balloons, and with it proposes to ascend, make the tour of the city, and return to the place of starting. The principle of the machine seems to be that a balloon with its axis inclined will neither ascend or descend perpendicularly; the inventor, by changing the inclination of his balloons, hopes to make any desired point by tacking up and down. But this is only theory as yet; he may not be able to follow inclination.

A Pacific paper says: "The latest news from Montana is doleful enough. Thousands of men vainly prospecting for diggings; nothing paying over two dollars per day; men constantly freezing to death; tea four dollars per pound; flour thirty dollars per hundred; men living on bread and water, or venison straight."

Windy.—The wind was on a high frolic yesterday, and had things pretty much its own way. The dust flew in clouds and was sifted into houses through every crack, while hats and crinolines were entirely beyond the control of the wearers. No special damage was done that we hear of.

A Wreck.—Between 12 and 1 o'clock today a couple of small wooden buildings, of Court street, near the bridge occupied, the one as a blacksmith and the other as a barber shop, fell with a crash. They were set up on piles, which from year to year had been getting displaced, until the last hair of endurance gave way. There was a span of horses in the blacksmith shop but they were not injured. The property belonged to Messrs. Lawrence, Atwood and E. H. Strong.

A case has been tried before a full jury of negroes at Murfreesboro, Tenn. A freedman threw a stone at another freedman, who retaliated in kind, striking his assailant on the head, and inflicting a serious wound. The injured man brought the matter before the civil courts as a case of assault, but it was dismissed; the plaintiff being the aggressor. The injured man died and the matter was brought before the Freedmen's Bureau, and a trial was had, with twelve freedmen for jury. The accused was discharged. This is believed to be the first case where a jury of twelve blackmen returned a verdict in open court.

Governor of Maryland.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF COUNTY IS GONE

Truman T. Lee of Evansville Dead After Suffering Three Paralytic Strokes in Two Weeks.

Evansville, Wis., May 20.—Truman T. Lee, one of the best-known and most highly respected men in this vicinity, died at his home on Liberty street about five o'clock this morning. Mr. Lee was born in Oswego county, N. Y., Oct. 12, 1827, and was the son of Thomas and Lucinda (Wagh) Lee, both natives of New York. There were six sons and one daughter in the family. His father was a canal contractor in his early life and in later years became a farmer. When Truman was but six years of age the parents moved to Lorain county, Ohio. The father died in 1877 at the age of seventy-eight years and the mother died in February, 1894, at the age of eighty-two. Both were prominent members of the Baptist church. Truman T. Lee was reared in Ohio, five miles west of Oberlin; spent his boyhood and youth under the parental roof, and attended the district school. When he assumed the burden of his own support he worked out for wages and carefully saved his earnings until he was able to buy a farm of fifty-five acres in Lorain county. This place he almost cleared of the native growth of timber and then rented it that he might make a protracted visit to Illinois and Wisconsin. He returned to his farm and was engaged in its tillage for six years. In 1864 he came to Rock county, Wis., and purchased a farm of about one hundred and fifty acres in Porter township. Later he purchased more land and here he lived until 1878, when he rented his farm and moved into Evansville, that he might spend the rest of his days in the enjoyment of the comforts which a hard and industrious life had richly earned.

On Aug. 25, 1880, Truman T. Lee and Miss Julia A. Low were united in marriage. They became the parents of one son and two daughters. Smith T. Corris Lilly and Mary Lucinda Smith died when two years old. Corris Lilly married Shasta E. Barnard, one of the most prominent tobacco dealers of this city, and Mary Lucinda is the wife of Guy E. Barnard, a well-to-do farmer who resides about three miles east of this city. Besides the two daughters he leaves four grandchildren. Mrs. Lee died in June, 1901, and Mr. Lee made his home with his two daughters until he married Mrs. Mary Emery on Feb. 5, 1903.

Besides the wife, two daughters and four grandchildren he leaves two brothers, Norman and Andrew, both residing in Lorain county, Ohio. One brother, George F. Lee, died in the town of Magnolia on Feb. 14, 1904. Mr. Lee has always been a republican, has served as supervisor and was school director while living in the country. He has lived in Rock county over forty years and has a host of friends who sympathize deeply with the family in their sudden affliction, as Mr. Lee has been in usual health until about two weeks ago, when he suffered a paralytic stroke which was followed by two more the latter part of last week.

The funeral services will be held at the late home on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in Maple Hill cemetery.

"Let thy mind still be bent, still plotting, where and when, and how thy business may be done. The sure traveler, though he nights sometimes, still goeth on."—Herbert.

Time straightens out reforms as well as reformers.

The life insurance business seems to have been an all around demoralizer.

Prosperity favors the land in spite of the robber trait and the unrighteous combine.

"All things come to him who waits." If you don't believe it ask Houser.

The Bryan pill is a tough dose for democracy to swallow, but the party is taking its medicine in good shape.

Citizens must not forget that there is to be a chauntiqua here some time during the coming summer.

Vacation time will soon be here for the boy who longs for his fishing pole and a can of angle worms.

Janesville parties are having a hard time this spring finding a place to play ball on.

Plenty of time, to decide who to support for governor, when the candidates all get in the field.

Why not hold a three days' race meet and revive the old time sport that made Janesville famous the country over?

Janesville autoists have made the reputation the state over of calling "whoa" at their automobile when it tries to ride the curbings.

It would be regarded as a crime for anybody but a reformer to attempt to bribe an insurance commissioner, but a reformer can do no wrong.

The audience on the fence this year will be large and respectable, while the state campaign furnishes a continuous performance. Reform has the arena and the main tent all to itself.

PHYSICAL DEGENERACY.

The London Chronicle, in speaking of physical degeneracy and its cause, says:

"In London 400,000 people live in single rooms; 40,000 live five in a room, and 8,000 seven in a room. Overcrowding is the rule; fresh milk and good food the exception. Babies fed on cold cabbage and kippers; with an occasional nip of gin and water to hearten them up, rarely develop into strong men."

"A ward sister of one of our great hospitals was recently traveling in a third-class carriage in London, when she saw a woman feed a child of one and a half years with a piece of saveloy and some white bread. The sister told the woman that she was destroying the child's digestion, upon which the following conversation took place:

"And may I ask, have you any children of your own?"

"None," said the sister.

"Then thank you kindly for your advice, but having buried nine babies of my own, I ought to know how to treat 'em."

AFTER SPOONER.

The La Follette contingency in Wisconsin is already laying plans to defeat Senator Spooner's reelection four years hence. Written pledges have been prepared and will be presented to all legislative candidates, asking them to oppose Senator Spooner.

This in spite of the fact that the people are to vote on the United States senator at the primaries. This vote of course does not elect, but it expresses popular choice which the legislature is in duty bound to respect.

The primary law is the offspring of La Folletteism. It is supposed to confer upon the people the sovereign right to select candidates for office, untrammelled by party ties or obligations. The fight against Senator Spooner is in direct opposition to both the letter and spirit of the law. The people of Wisconsin will not be a party to this kind of spite work, even to gratify the whim of the newly elected senator. The state is proud of Senator Spooner. His ability as a statesman is recognized throughout the country, and he confers upon his constituency greater honor than he enjoys. His place in the senate can not be readily filled and the republicans of the state will see to it that no vacancy occurs.

THE ROCKEFELLER FORTUNE.

"It is estimated," says the Wall Street Journal, "that John D. Rockefeller has received in dividends from his share of Standard Oil stock $114,000,000 since 1895. This is probably a moderate estimate."

"It is at the rate of about $14,000,000 a year, or nearly $47,000 every business day. If Mr. Rockefeller should adopt the rule of giving a tenth of his income to charity, this would mean a disbursement of $1,400,000. It cannot be doubted that Mr. Rockefeller's annual philanthropy amounts to much more than that. But his Standard Oil dividends are only a part of his income, for his outside investments must be enormous; and large as are his charities, the balance left for reinvestment is so great as to suggest the interesting problem of the size of his fortune through the simple process of compounding of interest."

"Nevertheless, shall such a fortune be made the object of envy? Shall it be made the object of laws the intention of which is confiscation?"

"Whatever may be the peril of such wealth in the hands of one man, would not any attempt to take it away from him by force of law involve a vaster peril to society? Every man who has an income from savings of $1,000 or of $100 a year has as much concern in the protection of Mr. Rockefeller's fortune as Mr. Rockefeller has himself. If the law may confiscate the great fortune, it may also confiscate the small."

"When, however, in the course of nature, Mr. Rockefeller dies, and his fortune is bequeathed to others, may not the government rightfully step in and take a portion of it? The nation may rightfully claim to be one of the natural heirs of every fortune. In other words, an inheritance tax, of even large proportions, seems to be from every point of view fair, and a beneficent way of preventing the too great growth of family fortunes such as might overshadow the power of the government itself. On the other hand, any legislation to limit the size of a man's fortune during his life time is setting bounds to beneficent ambition and enterprise."

The argument produced by the Wall Street Journal is sound, and very refreshing, and comes at a time when the notion is altogether too prevalent that the accumulation of wealth is a crime.

So much has been said and written about John D. Rockefeller that his name is a byword, and many people have been led to believe that his fortune is largely composed of tainted money.

The confiscation of this block of wealth by the government would please the whim of a large class of people, and yet, if this were done, it would be the first long stride towards anarchy.

The argument is used by disgruntled people that it ought not to be possible for men like Carnegie, Morgan, and Rockefeller to amass the great amount of wealth which they possess, and that something must be radically wrong with a government which protects its citizens while accumulating wealth.

This is a dangerous argument and yet it appeals to ignorance, and is endorsed by a multitude of people. The fact is overlooked that the great industries fostered and developed by this class of men furnish employment to an army of people.

The more important fact is also ignored, that the same government which protects great wealth, recognizes all property rights as sacred and furnishes opportunities unparalleled in any other land.

While the Rockefeller and Morgans have accumulated great fortunes, common prosperity has blessed the country and men engaged in commercial and industrial life have won success. The man who toils for day wages has found steady employment and the savings banks of the country are the depositories of more than $6,000,000 accounts of this class today.

Money always commands respect and the man who possesses the disposition and ability to accumulate, it honestly is entitled to protection and every encouragement.

Seems a Reasonable Guess.

La Crosse Tribune: As between Houser and Host, somebody is lying. In our opinion, it is probably at least one of them.

Divide or Smirch.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: "If you can't divide the republicans, smirch them" is the democratic policy in the senate.

Superior Telegram: Doubtless the result of all this juggling at Washington will be a rate-regulation bill that will not regulate.

Traced to Polar Ice-Caps.

El Paso Herald: Prof. Serviss says the San Francisco earthquake was due to the weight of the polar ice caps. How about the fire, professor?

No Occasion Just Now.

Evening Wisconsin: Four hundred crows have been shot in Rock county in one week, and nobody—not even a politician—is reported as having indulged in a crow banquet.

Forewarned of Shock. Milwaukee News: At Grand Rapids, Mich., Sherbie told the reporters that he has got his eye on the office of governor of Wisconsin and that he means to get it. As fair warning has been given, the office should lose no time in preparing itself for the approaching shock.

This Will Never Do. Oshkosh Northwestern: Several of Senator La Follette's friends in this state, when interviewed by The Milwaukee Journal, declare he is "getting far" on the opposition which he is encountering at Washington. But how can he ever remain a reformer if he really gets far?

Not on Bryan's Schedule. Madison Journal: A Milwaukee paper launches Senator La Follette as the democratic candidate for president in 1908. It is not probable that the junior senator will obtain for his family scrap book any commendatory press notice of the proposition from The Commoner, published at Lincoln, Neb.

Depreciating the Quake. St. Louis Globe-Democrat: "Considered as a disturbance of the earth's crust," says a San Francisco paper, "the earthquake was positively insignificant. There was a vibration of a few inches, not noticeable to a person walking." As everybody was running about that time, the vibration of a few inches had a singular effect on the nerves.

"Swallowed, Hair and Hide."

Beloit Free Press: Evidently the Daily News is not particularly friendly toward District Attorney John L. Fisher, and possibly it may be because the Free Press has failed to oppose his nomination and election next fall. Any suspicion on the part of the News that the Free Press is not opposing any certain candidate for office would necessarily cause the News to oppose that candidate. In a recent editorial, evidently inspired by the personal animosity of the News editor toward the District Attorney, the News takes occasion to say: — but it develops that the Free Press has swallowed Mr. John L. Fisher—hair and hide. The editor of the Free Press, strange as it may appear, has never met Mr. Fisher, and consequently has never passed a word with him, but according to all accounts, he and the editor of the News have been more than chummy with each other, and while it is no important matter, still it might interest some to know the cause of their present estrangement.

Don't Blame the Law.

Green Bay Gazette: Irvine L. Lenroot, speaker of the last state assembly and now candidate for governor, in speaking at the Lincoln club banquet at Milwaukee took occasion to review much of the legislation enacted by the past three legislatures, among it being the primary election law. While declaring himself to be heartily in favor of a primary law, he regretted that at the special session of the legislature a new primary law was not enacted which would allow the voter to register his first and second choice of candidates for each office, and according to the terms of the present law a plurality nominates. It may be that he is correct in his claim that this would give a better opportunity to secure candidates which would satisfy a larger number of the voters, but at the same time it should also be remembered that the present law had been passed and by a referendum vote ratified by the voters of the state. That being the case it would seem to be much better to allow a test of the law in its present form rather than to make material changes in it before it had ever been enforced.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

Kansas Socialists have named a full state ticket, headed by Harry Gillman of Oswego for governor.

Missouri has raised the banner of William J. Bryan for the presidency in 1908. All the democratic conventions held so far in that state have come out flatly for the nomination of the Nebraskan.

Supporters of Governor Cummins believe that the fight for the republican nomination for governor of Iowa this year is practically over, and that he will be renominated without much trouble.

Thus far four of the present democratic members of congress from Virginia have been given renominations without opposition. Those are Representatives Lamb in the Third district, Glass in the Sixth, Rixey in the Eighth, and Flood in the Tenth.

It is rumored that Meredith Nicholson, the author of "The House of a Thousand Candles," will be put forward by the democrats of his district as a candidate for congress. Authorship in Indiana seems to be a favorite stepping stone to political preferment.

Senator Philander C. Knox has not given any encouragement to the movement started by his friends to give him the republican nomination for governor of Pennsylvania. Though the convention is but a few weeks distant the republicans of the Keystone state still appear to be up in the air as regards the gubernatorial candidate.

Robert A. Smith, recently re-elected mayor of St. Paul, has served half a dozen terms in that office, five of them consecutively. He has been active in politics for half a century and has occupied some office or another most of the time.

Representative Lloyd of Missouri is to be in charge of the western headquarters of the democratic congressional committee during the coming campaign. Chicago will be the location of the western headquarters as in the past.

Indiana Prohibitionists meet in convention at Indianapolis today to nominate their state ticket.

VOTING MEASURE

Claim Made That One Party Can Dictate Ticket of Others—Berger Explains Situation.

In this morning's issue of the Chicago Tribune the following article on Wisconsin politics appears:

Wisconsin's primary election law is not so popular as most people believe, and, even before it has been given a test at a state election, two of the three political parties in the state have decided to be governed by the provisions of the La Follette law.

The socialists, or social democratic party have decided to select their ticket by a referendum vote and later hold a convention to decide on a platform. This is to be done before the primaries are held in September. At the primaries the ticket will then be placed on the ballot and ratified according to the state law.

The democrats have decided to hold a convention to fix a platform. Their ticket will be nominated according to the primary law. Under the primary law the election dates are to meet after the election and formulate a platform, and while this will be done the candidates of the socialist and democratic parties merely will ratify the convention action so as to comply with the law.

The republican party of Wisconsin is in the hands of followers of Senator Robert M. La Follette, who fathered the primary law, and his party will be governed by it accordingly.

See Faults in The Law. The action of the social democrats was decided upon by the state central committee. The members met and said that under the provisions of the primary law, in this state any one of the old parties could step in and dictate the ticket of the socialists. It was pointed out that at the city primaries in Milwaukee, in the spring, the socialists and the republicans came near dictating the ticket for the democrats.

Under the circumstances it was decided to comply with the primary law, but instead of picking its ticket and platform according to the primary law it was decided to use the party's old methods and then let the provisions of the primary law be applied to ratify rather than to select.

"Our position is this," said Victor L. Berger, national committeeman and foremost in socialist circles. "We do not propose to let the other parties nominate a ticket for us. Neither do we propose to let the nominees formulate a set of principles upon which we will stand. Under the La Follette law this is possible, and it would mean the disruption of our party if successfully accomplished. They could name men for us who are not in accord with our principles. These men could meet after the primaries and formulate a set of principles on a platform that would make us ridiculous before the people."

Can Control Other Tickets.

"How can it be done?" The spring election showed what can be accomplished. The republicans let their ticket take care of itself because Becker's nomination was assured. So the La Follette men stepped in and took a hand in the fight on Rose and had the fight been a little better organized it would have succeeded. This same trick can be played on us. As a state party we are comparatively weak. We will poll 35,000 or more votes. Were either party not to have opposition it could step in and control our ticket or the ticket of its other rival. Under the circumstances we have decided to stick to our old method.

"We are now holding a referendum vote throughout the state. As soon as this has been done we will hold a state convention here on June 2, and decide on a platform. The ticket that has been chosen by referendum then will be placed on the ballot at the primary. Having no opposition, of course, it will go through the primary. After the primary the candidates will meet according to the primary law and ratify the platform which we already have decided on in the convention of June 2."

"In this manner we comply with Bob La Follette's law and still run things to suit ourselves, rather than take any chances with the new legislation, which, to our minds, can be used to build up all kinds of political machines."

Expect Fight in The Fall.

But Mr. Berger only points out one side of the evil. By the action of the socialists they protect themselves, but they say nothing of the new party they must thus secure a double in the affairs of the other parties. To ratify the ticket they have chosen at the referendum vote, only a few scattering votes are needed. Half a dozen will be as good as so many thousand, since there is no opposition. That gives the other thousands an opportunity to use their ballot in voting for republican or democratic candidates, as their fancy may strike them, or as the leaders may decide. Yet under the primary law this is legal.

This was the weak point that caused such dissatisfaction in the municipal elections in the spring. It will not be surprising if the combination is heard from again in the fall, when the law is to be tried at a state election for the first time. Incidentally, it goes to prove that, as politicians, the socialists know a thing or two. So far as the democrats are concerned, there is a difference of opinion in the party as to the law. In Milwaukee the democrats have little faith in the primary. They blame it for the defeat of Mayor Rose. It was responsible for the defection of the Polish vote, which failed to secure presentation on the city ticket and went over to Becker.

Law Has Many Enemies. Under the circumstances, when the question of holding a convention to formulate a platform, rather than let the candidates do so, came up, the local democrats fought for such a step. The state central committee has chosen June 27 and 28 for the dates of the convention. So far as the ticket is concerned, it will be chosen according to the provisions of the primary law. Later the candidates will ratify the platform adopted by the convention.

The whole situation in Wisconsin, therefore, is unique. It took ten years of fight on the part of La Follette to get the law enacted, and all parties finally came out for it, and now, before it has been tried, opposition already has arisen in at least two parties and a large number of the third. While it is too early to predict the future of the law, it seems almost certain that it will be amended at the next session of the legislature to overcome many weaknesses, if an effort is not made to repeal the law altogether.

TERRIBLE DEATH

SECTION MAN RUN DOWN BY 10:35 ST. PAUL TRAIN.

HEAD CRUSHED TO A PULP

And Left Arm Severed—Accident Occurred Near Bailey's Crossing in Spring Brook.

Death in a violent and horrible form overtook William Lemke, a section man in the employ of the C. M. & St. P. Ry. Co., about four rods east of Bailey's crossing in Spring Brook shortly before eleven o'clock this morning. Whether or not the doomed man was walking on the track or too close alongside; whether or not he was struck by the locomotive or dragged under the cars after it had passed; whether or not he stumbled or was caught in the air suction of the moving train (which seems improbable) are questions which none save, perhaps, the men in charge of the Chicago southbound passenger No. 142 will be able to answer. It is said, indeed, that it was an occupant of one of the rear coaches who pulled the bell-cord for the train to stop, but this cannot be verified.

Body Terribly Mangled.
Death must have been instantaneous. When the train had stopped and the crew went back they found the right portion of the head and face crushed to a pulp and the left arm completely severed near the shoulder. The mangled remains were placed on the rear platform of one of the cars and carried on to the interlocking tower. They were then transferred to the board walk adjoining the tower, where they lay uncovered in the sun for over an hour. District Attorney Fishon, Justice Reeder, and representatives of the Gazette were among the first from the city to arrive upon the scene and an undertaker's wagon followed. It was found on examination that the trunk and lower limbs of the body had not been mangled. But the back of the watch which the man carried had been bent in. The hands had stopped at 10:43 a. m.

Was Taking a Day Off.
William Lemke was a single man about forty-two years of age and lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lemke, at 359 South Academy street. Of late he had been employed with seventeen others by Section Foreman Michael Joyce and was regarded by Mr. Joyce as the best workman of his crew. Lemke went to work as usual about six this morning, but after making a short handcar tour and assisting in tightening some bolts, decided that he would lay off for the balance of the day and go down to the North-Western depot and collect some money which was due him and which he had been told had been left there for him. He is believed to have spent considerable time in the city after he had attended to his errand and to have been walking back to rejoin the crew in the vicinity of the interlocking tower, when he was struck down.

No Inquest Deemed Necessary.
There being no evidence or suspicion of foul play or contributory negligence which might constitute manslaughter, it was not deemed necessary by District Attorney Fisher to order an inquest. He has made a formal request of the railroad company, however, to secure statements from the engineer and conductor regarding what they saw of the tragedy. Besides the bereaved parents, the deceased is survived by one sister, Mrs. Charles Graf, and one brother, Emil Lemke.

HAROLD MYERS WON RACE FROM MINNESOTA CAPTAIN

Saturday afternoon Wisconsin University won from Minnesota in a track meet on Northrup field, Minneapolis, the score standing 69½ to 47½. Harold Myers of this city ran in the half-mile event and the relay race and captured honors in both. He won the half-mile from Graves of the Gopher institution and Douglas of the Gopher school. Douglas is captain of the Minnesota team and secured a place in the conference event last June. The time was 2:00.45, a second and a fifth better than the time in Chicago a week ago. The Wisconsin relay team won in 2:32 and the team was composed of Miller, Myers, Huefner and Rideout.

AN OLD BURR ROBBINS MAN HERE AHEAD OF FIRE SHOW

D. S. Ward, who began his show business with Burr Robbins in 1872, when he started out from Paw Paw, Michigan, with thirty cages of animals, was in Janesville this morning to make arrangements for the appearance of the Fire Fighters that appear here next month. Mr. Ward tells interesting stories of the early trials of Burr Robbins, how the first season he hired horses from farmers near Paw Paw to be brought on the installment plan, and then hired the farmers to go along and drive and care for them. This was the day of the old-time wagon show and Burr made enough the first year to fully equip his show for the next summer's campaign.

PULPIT WENT AFTER SUNDAY BALL GAMES

Local Ministers' Yesterday Expressed Regret at Conditions in the City.

From several pulpits yesterday morning or last evening and at the young men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. in the afternoon "Sunday Baseball" was given a scolding. Some of the ministers expressed regret at the condition of affairs in view of the fact that a large number of amateur contests are held every Sabbath afternoon and that hundreds of local residents witness them. At the Y. M. C. A. the discussion taboed the Sunday game as an unnecessary and unexcusable desecration of the Lord's day, some dozen men speaking against it and but one championing the sport.

MANY DO NOT FAVOR THE IMPROVEMENTS

On Terrace, Academy, and South Main Streets Which Have Been Proposed by Council.

Owners of property on that section of Terrace street lying between the Mineral Point avenue and West Bluff street intersections, and Academy street between Ravine and West Bluff street with Aldermen Merritt and Fish of the first ward in the council chamber, Saturday evening to discuss the proposed grading and laying of cement gutters on those thoroughfares. Considerable opposition was manifested to the proposed improvements and so far as can be learned there was no definite issue of the conference. Owners of property on South Main street are circulating a petition against having cement gutters and curbing put in on that street until sewer pipes shall be laid and service pipes installed.

IT WAS WASH-DAY FOR OVER A DOZEN HOBBOES

Tramps Dipped Their Garments in the Crystal Rock and Dried Them in Warm Sun Yesterday.

Yesterday was the annual spring wash-day for some fifteen or more tramps congregated in the northern environs of Janesville. On a portion of the river bank located between the brewery and the railroad track and stoned up to prevent erosion, they religiously washed their undergarments, using the big stones as washboards, and spread them out in the sun to dry. When the warm rays had done their part they repeated the process with their outer garments. The Bowler City with its neat doorways and scrupulously clean sidewalks and streets evidently has its benign influence, even on the traveling fraternity of box-car passengers who toll not and seldom keep a generous distance away from soap.

Johnson "Sat Down" On Betting

Evil Results Would Follow if Baseball Dictators Allowed Players or Teams to Wager on Pennant Races--Umpires Would Suffer Still More.

Prompt action by President Johnson of the American league probably has prevented any bad results growing out of the efforts of players of the Cleveland club to bet with the players of other clubs on their respective positions at the end of the pennant race.

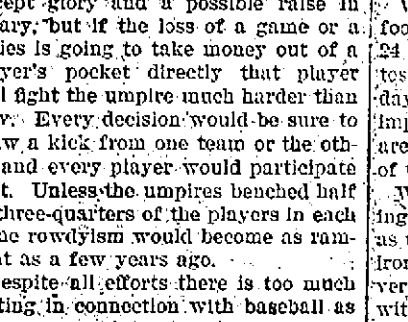

OUTFIELDER GILBERT OF CLEVELAND. (Gilbert is one of the Cleveland players who has shown up unusually well in the outfield, and his heavy batting has caused Captain Lejole to sign him for the season.)

any nothing of the effect if such bets should be allowed to become general among the players. Gambling alone has ruined many a great sport, and even baseball, great institution that it is, could not withstand for long the evils which would grow out of gambling if once permitted to become recognized as general.

The suspensions which immediately would be created in the minds of the patrons would find plenty of material to feed on in the vagaries and uncertainties of baseball, and all except the gamblers soon would turn from the sport once its honesty was doubted.

But aside from this fact such a bet as the Cleveland players proposed was bound to produce much harm, even if not to the honesty of the game. Players who have wagered their own money that they will beat out certain rivals, either final position or in the season's series between their clubs, would make the life of an umpire unbearable on and off the diamond. It is bad enough now, when the winning of a pennant or a club's position in a race means little to the individual players except glory and a possible raise in salary, but if the loss of a game or a series is going to take money out of a player's pocket directly that player will fight the umpire much harder than now. Every decision would be sure to draw a kick from one team or the other, and every player would participate in it. Unless the umpires bunched half or three-quarters of the players in each game rowdiness would become as rampant as a few years ago.

Despite all efforts there is too much betting in connection with baseball as it is. No relaxation should be made from present standards. In fact, the club owners themselves should attend to that and set their players and the public a good example by refraining altogether from the too prevalent practice of betting hats and suits of clothes with each other.

UMPIRE JOHN H. CONWAY. (John H. Conway is a promising new National league umpire. He came to President Pulliam highly recommended. He recently showed his nerve by ordering Manager McGraw, Catcher Roger Bresnahan and First Baseman Dan McGinn of the New York Nationals out of the game for three days in Boston.)

They may think it indicates sportsmanship and confidence on their part, but it is a bad example for the public.

College Sport. Swain, Penn's New Pole Vault Star--Coach Staggy May Leave Chicago.

Swain, the leading pole vaulter of the University of Pennsylvania, should come very close to winning the intercollegiate championship title at the forthcoming meet.

Swain has all the earmarks of a future national champion. His vault of eleven feet eight inches at the recent college meet at Philadelphia was an aerial navigation of the best collegiate standard. He tied with Phillips of Cornell, but lost the toss.

Pennsylvania so far excelled all the other prominent universities entered in the carnival that if those games may be taken as a criterion it looks as if the Quakers were having a revival of the times of Kraenzlein and would make a strong bid for the intercollegiate championship this year.

Plans for the Memorial day regatta at Cornell have been completed. The programme includes two races. The freshmen race the Cascadilla school crew, and the junior varsity rows against the Pennsylvania second eight.

It is reported that Coach Alonzo A. Staggy of the University of Chicago may have to give up his position on account of poor health. For the last two years he has been forced to take long vacations after each football season. He has recently returned from Florida, where he spent the winter, but does not feel in the best of condition. Reports say he will be unable to take up his work with the end of the spring quarter, which is considered to be the beginning of the end of his active duties at Chicago.

Wisconsin university has slated a football game with Nebraska for Nov. 24 at Madison. The fact that the contest is on schedule for the last Saturday of the 1906 season has sent out the impression that the Badger authorities are intending to make the contest one of the most important of the year.

Wisconsin took the initiative in making arrangements for the contest, and as the teams have not met on the gridiron for five years students of both universities are looking for developments with wide open eyes.

Muir of Columbia university is showing up so well in sprints and over the hurdles that the New York students figure him to be a sure point winner in the intercollegiate meet.

Muir has developed an easy style of running that produces high speed without much visible effort.

Princeton's two mile track record was broken recently in a special race in which John Elsie, '07, of Newark, N. J., covered the distance in 9 minutes 49 seconds.

Sherring, Marathon Winner

Weak Looking Canadian Who Captured World's Greatest Long Distance Running Prize Is Only Five Feet-Tall and Weighs but 122 Pounds.

William Sherring, the Canadian who won the Marathon race of twenty-six miles in the Olympic games at Athens, is, strangely enough, one of the frailist, weakest looking athletes that ever wore a spiked shoe. He is only five feet tall and weighs but 122 pounds, yet by sheer endurance he outran the picked long distance stars of more than a half dozen nations. Greece alone offered twenty-seven entries, but none of the descendants of the famed laurel wreath winners of the past was even in the same class with the Canadian.

The Marathon race was the big contest of the final day of the games, the grueling run of twenty-six miles that every athlete wanted to win. It overshadowed everything else in importance, the entire populace of Athens filling and overflowing the Stadium, while thousands of others were spread along the Marathon road. The runners consisted of the twenty-seven Greeks, seven Britons, including Canadians and Australians; five Americans, three Germans, two Frenchmen, two Italians, three Swiss, one Belgian, one Dane and two Egyptians. Hundreds of volubles of all kinds followed the fortunes of the contestants. In one of these the king and queen of Greece sat, and as the runners kept sprinting for a lead the monarchs shouted encouragement to them.

Beginning with a very hot pace, W. G. Frank of the Irish-American A. C. of New York took the lead at the tenth kilometer. He retained it until the thirtieth, when he was passed by Pike of England.

Frank lunged on, while William Sherring of Hamilton, Ont., gradually forced his way up. Frank ran hard and again took the lead, but he was evidently in distress and breathed very hard.

Sherring then broke loose, closely followed by Swamberg of Sweden. Frank braced and did not allow any of the others to pass him, the race ending in that order.

The towering sides of the Stadium seemed to rock as the cry went up that a runner was nearing the finish there. Far in the distance a cloud of dust arose and as it came closer the outlines of two figures could be seen struggling for the gates. One was the little Canadian and the other Swamberg, the Swede. With his eyes almost closed and covered from head to foot with grime and dirt, the plucky little Canadian kept his head of a foot.

The Greek princes jumped from their seats and ran alongside of Sherring, cheering him. Swamberg faltered. It was a few strides to the finish, and Sherring, with a desperate gasp, reached it. King George was the first to reach him, and he grasped the lad's hand, while the queen handed him a bouquet of flowers.

The first four finished within five minutes of each other. Sherring's time for the twenty-six miles was 2 hours 51 minutes 23.5 seconds.

Michael Spring, upon whom the Americans placed their faith, was beaten off with the rest, including Lobes and the other famed Greeks. It was a bitter defeat for the latter to be beaten at their own game, but they have no excuse. Sherring outran them from the start.

Sherring has been running seven years. His skill as a runner has been developed mainly in Hamilton's yearly road races, held on Thanksgiving day. Even in Canada it was not expected he would win.

A REPORT ON TRADE CONDITIONS IN THE REPUBLIC OF CUBA

Special Report Paid to the Raising and Manufacturing of Leaf Tobacco and Cane Sugar.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Washington, D. C., May 19.—Under instructions from the Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor, Mr. Charles M. Pepper has made a report on Trade Conditions in the Republic of Cuba, which has been transmitted to the senate, in accordance with the act of congress of February 3, 1905, which authorized the employment of special agents to investigate trade conditions abroad with the object of promoting the foreign commerce of the United States. Mr. Pepper is one of these agents.

In opening Mr. Pepper says that the income from products shipped from Cuba to foreign countries will be much less this year than during the calendar year 1905, due to the shortage in the sugar crop, the lower price for that article as compared with 1905, and also to a poor tobacco crop.

He believes that the loss of buying ability from the decreased tobacco and sugar receipts will be offset at least partially by the transfer of capital from the United States and Europe for investment in development enterprises. While the island will feel the depression in sugar and tobacco, and while this will be more acute toward the end of the year than at present, says Mr. Pepper, "the importance of the transferred capital as a means of maintaining a fair degree of prosperity and of enabling the inhabitants to overcome the decrease of income from the two staple crops should not be overlooked."

Speaking at length of the tobacco industry of Cuba, Mr. Pepper says: "While the floods caused great damage to the sugar crop in Santa Clara and Matanzas, and in a more limited area, in the province of Havana, the result in greater proportionate injury to the tobacco crop in the western province of Pinar del Rio. Tobacco does not offer the prospects of increase that are afforded by sugar cane. The floods in the late fall of 1905 lessened the production in Pinar del Rio by at least one-fourth, according to the views of those engaged in the trade, and the losses were heavy enough to cause such great distress among the small tobacco farmers in the Vuelta Abajo region that aid from the government was necessary. Apparently the loss on the crop was not less than $5,000,000."

"The quality of the tobacco that survived the rains was not sufficiently high to secure an advance in price proportionate to the loss in quantity, though naturally some advance followed. Producers got little benefit from this advance, though the tobacco manufacturers, by raising the price on cigars made from last year's crop, and with the certainty that owing to the scarcity they would secure much higher prices for the cigars manufactured from this year's crop, reaped themselves for possible losses. The crop in the Remedios region also suffered, while in the Partidos district it was not up to the average. In the Manicagua district it was fair, but this action produced a small portion of the total crop."

"The future of tobacco production in Cuba must be judged by the past. In the fiscal year 1901-1902 the exports amounted to a fraction less than $29,000,000 and since then they have only once risen above $25,000,000. This was in 1905, when the total was $12,261,000 unmanufactured, and $14,107,000 manufactured. Of this product the United States took $11,112,751 unmanufactured, and $2,994,000 manufactured. Railroad extensions and road building in the Province of Pinar del Rio as well as in the Remedios and Manicagua regions, promise to better the conditions of production for the small farmers by providing them with cheaper and quicker means of transportation, but with all these advantages, the production of tobacco of the peculiar quality for which Cuba is famous is not likely to increase perceptibly. The soil capable of producing the fine tobacco is limited, and therefore, no marked increase in the crop can be expected."

"The experiments in shade-grown tobacco appear to offer encouragement for extending these areas of cultivation and to assure a saving in the expense of production, but they do not give promise of a phenomenal increase in the quantity that can be raised. The variation in prices from year to year may be notable, yet judged by past years $30,000,000 is not far from the limit of Cuba's tobacco productiveness, and of this $26,000,000 to $27,000,000 may be taken as the average amount available for export, both in the leaf and in cigars. Although the industry is confined to a few localities, a shortage in the crop is severely felt not only in the producing section, but also in the general trade and industry of the island. The loss of $5,000,000 in the buying power of the island will undoubtedly be noted in the purchases from foreign countries; but the recovery of this agricultural industry is rapid, and with a good crop in the coming season the losses of the past year will not be felt long in international trade."

During the fiscal year of 1905 Cuba exported $12,650,007 worth of unmanufactured tobacco, of which the United States received $11,112,751, other countries of America received $171,359; Germany, $922,641; Spain, $135,500; France, $58,538; Great Britain, $92,872; and other countries of Europe, $26,707 worth. Of manufactured tobacco, Cuba exported $14,107,469 worth in the fiscal year 1905, which went to the following countries: United States, $3,889,741; other countries of America, $1,250,168; Germany, $1,687,373; Spain, $336,701; France, $432,653; Great Britain, $573,712; other countries of Europe, $526,130; all other countries, $490,051.

In conclusion, Mr. Pepper says: "From the general survey of Cuban trade conditions it is apparent that the loss this year in the money value of the sugar and tobacco crops is to be regarded as temporary, and as not permanently interfering with the power to purchase goods abroad."

SORES AND ULCERS TROUBLESOME-OFFENSIVE-DANGEROUS

Nothing is more discouraging than to have an unhealthy sore or ulcer resist one treatment after another, sometimes scabbing over and apparently getting well, then returning with renewed energy and becoming worse than before. Sores and ulcers are not due to outside causes, if they were, salves, plasters, lotions, etc., would cure them. They are kept up by a diseased and polluted condition of the blood brought on by the absorption of refuse and waste matters of the body into this vital fluid. These accumulations find their way into the blood, usually because of an inactive and sluggish condition of the system. Nature intends that they shall be carried off through the usual channels of waste, but the different members failing to perform their duties properly, leave the matter to sour and ferment. The blood then, in its effort to keep the system healthy, absorbs these poisons and at the first bubble, cut or wound the sore is formed; and the constant drainage of foul matter through it keeps the place open and irritated so it cannot heal. Another cause for old sores and ulcers is the poisoning or weakening of the blood from the remains of some constitutional trouble or the effects of a long spell of sickness. S. S. S. begins at the fountain-head and drives out all poisonous matter and germs, and makes a lasting cure. As soon as the system gets under the influence of S. S. S. the inflammation gradually leaves, the flesh takes on a healthy color, and soon the place is permanently healed. Book on sores and ulcers and any medical advice without charge.
